Announcing: Lunch & Learn webinar series

Evoke is launching a new educational initiative - the Lunch & Learn webinar series! Once a month, spend your lunch hour with Evoke CEO and co-founder, David Hagedorn, PhD, to learn how to recognize and interpret different disease-state biomarkers.

Each program will consist of a 30-45 minute training session that focuses on one disease state and will include clear-cut case examples to help you boost your ability to interpret and utilize eVox Reports.

Next Thursday, join us for a Lunch & Learn webinar on Recognizing Memory Loss.

Strengthen your understanding of eVox Report metrics relevant to memory loss and learn how to recognize key biomarkers of dementia.

Over the 30-45 minute webinar, Evoke CEO and co-founder, David Hagedorn, PhD, will discuss:

- How to interpret functional physiology metrics
- Biomarkers sensitive to dementia, and the research supporting them
- Case studies that illustrate differences between dementia and pseudodementia

Service Spotlight.

Take advantage of our FREE consulting service

To help you utilize eVox to its fullest potential, Evoke is now offering a consulting service free of charge. This consulting service is in partnership with Drs. Wayne Hurty, MD, and Sarah Hurty, PhD, who have achieved great success using eVox in their practice. They have used eVox to help hundreds of patients and have been able to generate an average reimbursement north of $800 per patient.

To help you replicate this success in your own practice, the Hurty's will be conducting one-on-one coaching sessions. This consulting service is free of charge to you and aims to maximize the clinical and economic benefits of the eVox System.
